

Foundation Health and Safety (with Care elements)

A firm basis for a safe and compliant workplace

The Health and Safety at Work Act 1974 requires you to provide the information, instruction, training and supervision as is necessary to ensure, so far as is reasonably practicable, the health and safety at work of your employees.

The act is expanded by the Management of Health and Safety at Work Regulations 1999, which identify situations where health and safety training is particularly important, such as when people start work, on exposure to new or increased risks and where existing skills may have become rusty or need updating.

Equivalent to a one-day (6-hour) classroom-based course, the Foundation Health & Safety e-learning course delivers the training required to comply with this legislation for all staff in a hospitality, healthcare, food manufacturing, office or related workplace.

Featuring pre-module and post-module multiple choice assessments to secure understanding, this fully interactive and narrated course is designed to help the learner retain information and apply it in a practical work situation.
